The Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) is soliciting public comment on new rules and amendments to 329 IAC 9 concerning delivery prohibition requirements mandated by the Underground Storage Tank Compliance Act, part of the Energy Policy Act of 2005.

IDEM seeks comment on the affected citations listed and any other provisions of Title 329 that may be affected by this rulemaking.

CITATIONS AFFECTED: 329 IAC 9.

AUTHORITY: IC 13-14-9-8; IC 13-14-8-1; IC 13-14-8-2; IC 13-23-1-1; IC 13-23-1-2.

SUBJECT MATTER AND BASIC PURPOSE OF RULEMAKINGBasic Purpose and Background

The Federal Energy Policy Act of 2005 contains the Underground Storage Tank (UST) Compliance Act, which requires major changes to state UST programs. The original legislation that created the UST program is Subtitle I of the Solid Waste Disposal Act. This proposed rulemaking addresses the fuel delivery prohibition requirement of the UST Compliance Act.

The department believes it currently has the authority to implement the fuel delivery prohibition program; however, going forward with a rule will provide clear, concise standards to help assure consistency.

On August 8, 2007, it will be unlawful to deliver regulated substance to an "ineligible" tank. States, including Indiana, that receive federal funding under Subtitle I must implement the delivery prohibition requirement by August 8, 2007, to comply with their statutory requirements for funding. The delivery prohibition requirement prohibits the delivery, deposit, or acceptance of regulated substance to an underground storage tank that has been determined to be ineligible for such delivery, deposit, or acceptance. The state agency determines eligibility based on compliance with the state's environmental laws and regulations.

Section 9012 of the Act also requires U.S. EPA to develop and publish guidelines that describe the minimum processes and procedures for the delivery prohibition. U.S. EPA published those guidelines in August 2006.

A state implements the Energy Act's guidelines by:

Having the authority to prohibit delivery, deposit, or acceptance of regulated substance to an underground storage tank for both equipment and operational violations; and Developing processes and procedures for a delivery prohibition program that, at a minimum, meets the requirements in these guidelines. States may choose to be more stringent than these minimum requirements.

This rule will include the following five categories of processes and procedures required by the Energy Policy Act of 2005:

- Criteria for determining which underground storage tanks are ineligible for delivery, deposit, or acceptance of regulated substance;
- Mechanism(s) for identifying ineligible underground storage tanks;
- Process(es) for reclassifying ineligible underground storage tanks as eligible for delivery, deposit, or acceptance of regulated substance;
- Process(es) for providing adequate notice to underground storage tank owners and operators and regulated substance deliverers that an underground storage tank has been determined to be ineligible for delivery, deposit, or acceptance of regulated substance; and
- Delineation of a process for the application of delivery prohibition in rural and remote areas. U.S. EPA recognizes that states with existing delivery prohibition programs may already have communicated these requirements to tank owners and operators and regulated substance deliverers.

Definitions will be added to clarify the required processes. Definitions already in 329 IAC 9 may be moved to different sections so the definitions can continue to be in alphabetical order.

Alternative 1. A rule to require the prohibition of delivery of regulated substance to a tank that is out of compliance.

- Is this alternative an incorporation of federal standards, either by reference or full text incorporation? No.
- Is this alternative imposed by federal law or is there a comparable federal law? Yes.

- If it is a federal requirement, is it different from federal law? No.
- If it is different, describe the differences. Not applicable.

Alternative 2. Do the prohibition of delivery of regulated substance to a tank that is out of compliance by nonrule policy.

- Is this alternative an incorporation of federal standards, either by reference or full text incorporation? No.
- Is this alternative imposed by federal law or is there a comparable federal law? No, this alternative could not require prohibition of delivery.
- If it is a federal requirement, is it different from federal law? No.
- If it is different, describe the differences. Not applicable.
